

My Goals

1. Why do I want to learn this skill?

Web development is a frustration. I want to be able to code our current website on how I exactly want it to behave and learning this skills will improve our interface a lot without having to look or wait for someone to do it or spend too much to pay other people to do it. It saves time.

I also want to create website for other existing businesses aside from ours and make it as an income generating skills.

2. What will I achieve if I learn this skill?

I will be able to create more startup online businesses with less hassle and this skill will open up new opportunities to earn money from home.

3. How will this skill change my life and my career?

It will make be a good web developer. Something I had always wanted to do since 2007 and make me start a career in technology related businesses.

4. How will learning this skill impact the lives of my family, friends and coworkers?

What will you be able to do for your family or friends once you've learnt this skill? How will it change the way they think of you? Will your coworkers respect you more?

5. How will I feel if I never accomplish this?

There is no "never accomplishing". No compromises here. I will achieve the goals, no matter what.

6. What would my life look like if I manage to accomplish this?

It will give me that opportunity to work from home or wherever I am.
